

IRELAND GETS HIS GRIP

INAUGURATE REVIVAL MISSION AT LOCAL FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Ireland is the evangelist's name, and he has the Irish wit but hails from Missouri. Evangelist Ireland opened his work in the Revival Mission at the First Methodist church yesterday. His sermons both morning and evening had "the punch." Without extravagance of statement, without ranting, without abuse of Christian or non-Christian, but yet with direct, cutting, appealing presentation of the truth he proclaimed the Gospel message. His flashes of wit only served to illumine his arguments.

That Ireland is a man with a message, all who heard him will agree. He is no trimmer, and calls a spade a spade; but he does not abuse his hearers. His appeal is always to their judgment and sense of fairness. He has a passion for men, and has a strong, manly message. He wastes no time on glittering generalities; but goes directly after the individual weaknesses of men and points to an everpresent and Almighty God as the only remedy for human failures.

Large and interested congregations greeted the evangelist at both services yesterday. With deep interest they listened to his messages; smiled at his sallies of wit; sobered at his portrayal of sin and its work, and made new resolutions as he called men and women to live Christian lives that count. In telling of a great revival he said, "A preacher was asked about his revival and replied, 'It was the greatest revival we ever had.' 'How many did you take into the church?' 'None.' 'And yet you say it was the greatest revival you ever had.' 'Yes. We turned three out.'" And the evangelist believes that men in the church should be active Christians.

The musical part of the meetings will be made a strong feature, as it was yesterday. Mrs. Cammack will be heard in Gospel solo work to-night.

Home prayer meetings will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at the following residences: Residences of L. E. Bruckman, 552 E. Second St.; W. F. Knox, 327 Belmont; C. W. Burket, 704 W. 5th St.; G. C. Claver, 125 N. Kenwood.

Monday evening Mr. Ireland will speak on "Blazing the Trail, or Are You in the Brush?"

CHARLES GROSMAN HELD UP

As Charles Grosman was returning Saturday night to his home, 218 W. Ninth street, he was accosted suddenly by two men. Grosman states that one of the men without warning struck him violently in the stomach, rendering him helpless. Meanwhile the other went through his pockets, robbing him of $8 in cash and a gold watch. They then disappeared as suddenly as they had come on the scene. Captain Lawrence and Patrolman Lambert investigated the case but found no trace of the footpads. Captain Herald was sent to make further investigation Sunday and discovering that the assault and robbery took place outside the city limits turned the whole matter over to the Los Angeles police.

GLENDALE WINS CONVENTION

Dan W. Hagin and the other Glendale boosters who, as delegates to the County Convention of Christian Endeavor, succeeded in securing the convention for Glendale for 1917, returned home last evening and are loud in their praise of the welcome accorded them in the Quaker city. Not only did these boosters secure the convention for our own city, but two of Glendale's prominent workers in church circles were chosen as officers, Miss Mabel Galey as secretary and Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastoral counselor. Naturally, there was keen competition for the quarter centennial convention and the announcement of the selection of Glendale was received with vociferous applause.

A QUIET WEDDING

This being the Lenten season the wedding of Miss Wanda Billington, daughter of Mrs. A. Billington, 1227 Chestnut street, was a very quiet affair, the guests being only the immediate relatives of the young couple. Mr. Webb is the son of Mr. James Webb, 1316 Milford street, a well-known moving picture theater man of Los Angeles. The wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Father J. S. O'Neill, of the Holy Family church, at the home of the bride's mother, Friday evening. After the ceremony the young couple left for San Francisco. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Webb will be at home at 1227 Chestnut street.

NEW WELL SUCCESS

GLENDALE HAS ADDITIONAL WATER SUPPLY EQUAL TO CANYON FLOW

Much interest was manifested in the new water well that was brought in Saturday on the old Brand pump-site, that now belongs to the city. This is the third well that has been sunk on this property and the full supply is now slightly more than 600 miner's inches.

When the compressor was put on the new well it showed up in great shape. The flow gushed out from the head in a continuous stream about four feet in length and speedily filled the ditch that had been dug to carry it off. At the dam head the ing site, that now belongs to the city.

The latest well had a measured pumping flow of more than 250 inches. The water is pure and good as might be expected seeing that it flows over and filters through a vast gravel bed. It will be a great addition to the present water supply of the city and it is gratifying that so many people went out to the Brand site to see the well in action. They now understand that Glendale has in this well a source of supply that is fully equivalent to that which now comes out of the canyon. That the supply is practically inexhaustible may be seen by looking down the second well that is close to it. In spite of the enormous flow of the new well the one beside it showed no diminution in its volume. The water all along stood about 19 feet from the top of the well and all the speeding up of the flow of the new well made no difference to it.

A large party from Glendale went out to see the demonstration of what the new well could do. All expressed themselves more than pleased with the performance of the well and as satisfied that the city had done an excellent thing for itself when it purchased the Brand water site.

C. F. PARKER RETURNS FROM EAST

Some days ago Charles F. Parker returned from a few weeks' visit in the East; returning home by way of Santa Barbara he was joined by Mrs. Parker, who had been visiting at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Lyman of that city. Mr. Parker was appointed, by the Probate Court of Los Angeles County, guardian of Otis Jensen, who was rescued from a gang of tricksters recently in Los Angeles, who were endeavoring to relieve Jensen of $10,000. It was deemed advisable to return Jensen to his home in Maquoketa, Iowa, and Mr. Parker left with his protegee. Upon arriving at Maquoketa, Jensen was placed in charge of an uncle of the unfortunate man.

Having fulfilled his duties as guardian, Mr. Parker then proceeded to Des Moines, his boyhood home, where he enjoyed a most delightful visit with relatives and friends. While there he was also the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Youngerman, parents of Mrs. H. G. Hosford, of Glendale. From Des Moines Mr. Parker left for Chicago, where he spent several days. Chief Snively of Los Angeles having sent a letter of introduction to Chicago's chief of police, Mr. Parker was the guest of that official. A sixty-mile automobile ride, as the guest of Chicago's chief of police, was one of the pleasures of the visit. The weather was so uncomfortably cold and blustering that when Mr. Parker reached the land of sunshine and flowers he decided that there is no place like dear old Southern California and no place quite so inviting as Glendale, his own home town.

MUSICAL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Barrows, 443 W. Colorado boulevard, entertained at a musicale Wednesday evening Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Greely Kolts, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold, Miss Olds, Mrs. David Brant and Miss Susine Wessels. The evening was passed with a charming variety of vocal and instrumental music. Everyone has enjoyed the wonderful vocal talent of Mrs. Kolts and Mrs. Arnold and all Glendale has enjoyed the artistic violin playing of Miss Susine Wessels, while Mrs. Barrows, the hostess, is herself a pianist and accompanist of no small attainment. With so much talent it can easily be imagined that the guests were filled with the melody of sweet sounds. Light refreshments were served.

The manly citizen always has a good word for his home town. If a man bemoans his home, mark it then and there that his home has more or less good reasons to be ashamed of him!

GERMANS REPORT 30,000 RUSSIANS KILLED

ATTACK ON VON HINDENBURG MEANT TO PREVENT TROOPS FROM BEING WITHDRAWN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
BERLIN, MARCH 20.—Thirty thousand Russians were killed in the recent Russian attack on Von Hindenburg's quarters near Vilna, the war office announced today. It is believed here that the Russian attacks were intended to prevent the dispatch of German troops to France to assist in the attacks on Fort Verdun. The Russian attacks are continuing with great violence.

TOM TAGGART NOW UNITED STATES SENATOR

DEMOCRATIC LEADER APPOINTED TO SUCCEED THE LATE BEN SNIVELY BY GOV. RALSTON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WILSON TO AVOID EMBARRASSING CARRANZA

NO OFFENSE WILL BE TAKEN EVEN IF MEXICANS PLACE OBSTACLES IN WAY OF AMERICAN TROOPS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.—President Wilson intimated today to confidential officials that he would do nothing to embarrass Carranza. This statement was made by Under-secretary Polk of the State Department, who said that even if the Mexicans should deny the American troops the use of the railways no offense would be taken, but that some other means of transportation would be found.

NET TIGHTENS AROUND VILLA

MEXICAN BANDIT IS BEING GRADUALLY HEMMED IN IN MOUNTAINS NEAR BABRICORA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
EL PASO, March 20.—It is believed that Villa has been driven into a trap by the swift march of Dodd and Pershing. He is now nearing the difficult country among the Babricora mountains. This is a difficult section for the American troops. Cavalry are of very little use there. The country is exceedingly rocky and clad with pines. It is full of admirable hiding places with all of which Villa has been acquainted for years. Several Carranzista columns are covering the country to the south, where horses alone can be used as transport. The Americans are closing in on the mountainous country. Some authorities here say that Villa will easily evade pursuit among the mountains.

ALLIED AVIATORS BOMBARD SEEBRUGGE

BRITISH AND FRENCH AIRSHIPS SERIOUSLY DAMAGE GERMAN MILITARY WORKS AT HOULTADE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, March 20.—Twenty allied aeroplanes, French and British, attacked the German submarine base at Seebrugge today. This was in retaliation for the air raid on England Sunday. Considerable damage was done to the docks and the military works at Houlade were seriously damaged also. All the aviators returned in safety.

STEEL TRUST CASE COMES UP MAY 15

SUPREME COURT REFUSES GOVERNMENT ATTORNEYS' REQUEST FOR POSTPONEMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, March 20.—The United States Supreme Court today refused the government attorneys' application for a postponement of the arguments in the case against the Steel Trust. The court ordered the argument to come up May 15.

ELECTRIC STORM STRIKES OREGON

TWO ARE DEAD AND $5,000,000 PROPERTY DAMAGED BY FLOOD AND FIRE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PORTLAND, Ore., March 20.—Two are dead and $5,000,000 property damaged by a violent electric storm which struck this city today. Some property was damaged by fire and destructive floods are doing much damage everywhere through both Oregon and Washington states.

THE CANDID CANDIDATE

CHRONIC CIVIC KICKER TELLS A FEW OF HIS PET AVERSIONS

Spring is evidently working in the systems of the poets like the sap in the trees. Among others the only original civic, critical poet and office seeker, by his own grace, C. L. Bullard, has broken forth again, in the following amusing manner:

The Editor in his great kindness of heart
Has published some notes from my
Lyre (liar),
Which told how I longed to be making a start
Some municipal berth to acquire;
But I failed to state in my previous strain
The particular job that I wish,
So I thought I would tune my old liar (Lyre) again
To tell for what job I shall fish.

I would like to be boss of the whole bunkus works
And run this antitular town.
For the things I would do would astonish the Turks,
And here I'll put some of them down.
First thing I would murder with fiendish delight—
Oh list to the owner's loud squeals!—
The dog who runs out in the day or the night
And barks at the passerby's heels,
Or chases the automobiles;
The dingbustous dog, the untank-erous dog,
The riddlekum bangerbust, okum-hunk dog
That barks at the passerby's heels

And the next thing, oh People, that I'd make you a place
In a manner comporting with sense—
I tell you out loud and right here to your face—
Is—your bungledunk cornerlot fence.
When you build them close up to the edge of the walk
(Why you do it the Lord only knows),
You make people dodge and say awful bad talk
Or get lots of dirt on their clothes;
Or bang their unguarded elbows;
Or scratch their left ear on a rose;
And think you as one of their foes;
Your dikutereous fence, your alfixterous fence
Your unbridlekerlassitum cornerlot fence
That befuddles glad rags
And takes unwilling tags
From the careless pedestrian's nose.

And should you elect that I manage this town—
Take notice of this, if you please—
There's a whole lot of branches will have to come down
From your badly neglected shade trees.
For they knock off your hat and come slap in your face;
Are the swift and sure cause of a falling from grace;
They're annoying, unsightly, and show that the town
For the lack of good management is running down—
Your baumallywag trees, your wing-wanderous trees,
Your alketchin, straddlewash, fuzzybrush trees,
That swing in the breeze;
Clear down to your knees;
And slap the unwary right where he will sneeze.

And while I was fixing unfixable things
In a manner judicious and right,
I would make little angels without any wings
Of the tomcats that holler at night,
And catch little chickens throughout the whole day
No matter how dear for those chickens you pay.
Those kusinkedang cats, those be-gunderbung cats,
I'd exterminate them with a shot in the slats—
Those dillykaypillybat, nasterang cats;
That holler at night;
Squall, beller, and fight;
And eat up your chickens when you're not in sight.

And then there's the rooster I'd regulate well
That rank, inconsiderate bird,
Any time in the night he will raise up and yell
With a voice that is bound to be heard.
Oh I'd regulate him with well-sharpened ax,
And a great many other things, too;
On straightening matters I would not be lax
For there's much regulating to do.

And the next thing, oh People, that I'd make you a place
In a manner comporting with sense—
I tell you out loud and right here to your face—
Is—your bungledunk cornerlot fence.
When you build them close up to the edge of the walk
(Why you do it the Lord only knows),
You make people dodge and say awful bad talk
Or get lots of dirt on their clothes;
Or bang their unguarded elbows;
Or scratch their left ear on a rose;
And think you as one of their foes;
Your dikutereous fence, your alfixterous fence
Your unbridlekerlassitum cornerlot fence
That befuddles glad rags
And takes unwilling tags
From the careless pedestrian's nose.

And should you elect that I manage this town—
Take notice of this, if you please—
There's a whole lot of branches will have to come down
From your badly neglected shade trees.
For they knock off your hat and come slap in your face;

They're annoying, unsightly, and show that the town
For the lack of good management is running down—
Your baumallywag trees, your wing-wanderous trees,
Your alketchin, straddlewash, fuzzybrush trees,
That swing in the breeze;
Clear down to your knees;
And slap the unwary right where he will sneeze.

And while I was fixing unfixable things

P. T. A. BIRTHDAY

BROADWAY ASSOCIATION CELEBRATES IN HONOR OF ANNIVERSARY

The Broadway Parent-Teacher association enjoys the distinction of being the oldest organization in the valley. Seven years ago this month the organization came into being and from a few members at the beginning it has steadily grown until with the close of the contest Thursday it numbered eighty-three.

A most interesting program was given to celebrate this seventh birthday. Miss Lucile Nay, the kindergarten teacher, assisted by twenty of her class, exemplified the different phases of this training which was so dear to the heart of Froebel. This was followed by a most excellent paper by Miss Nay setting forth the history and aims of kindergarten work.

Mrs. Carrie Stone Freeman delighted her audience by the following group of songs given in her usual charming manner:

(a) "Slumber Sea Chanteys," words by Lucia Chase Bell and Rita Bell James; music by Carrie Stone Freeman; (b) "The Candy Lion," "A Thanksgiving Table," "Dolladine," "Prayer of a Tired Child," Mrs. H. H. A. Beach.

The picture went to Miss Nay's room for having the highest percentage of mothers present. The picture, "Children of the Shell" (Murillo), given by Mrs. Ryan and framed by the association, was awarded the fourth grade room, Miss Speik, teacher, for having the largest number of P. T. A. membership.

Mesdames Brewer, Anderson, Williams, Carmichael, Grist and Jepson, comprising the hospitality committee, served dainty refreshments consisting of a birthday cake with its seven candles, shamrock cakes and ice cream.

ALL PRICES WITHDRAWN

The Los Angeles paper houses all unite in notifying the trade that all prices on paper are withdrawn, as the cost of stock at the mills is on a steady advance. These houses are the Sierra Paper Company, Zellerbach Paper Co., and Blake, Moffitt & Towne. Printers are forced to charge higher prices for stationery. There has been a raise of six cents per pound on bond papers, 20 lb. stock costing $1.20 more a ream than it did three months ago. The large paper houses are working together in the advancement of paper prices and those carrying large stocks will make small fortunes on price advances. When prices go down at the mills then the jobbers are put in a position to lose, but it is doubtful if they will then be so prompt in notifying their patrons of the change in price.

BRAND BOULEVARD LIGHTS

Five-standard lights have been installed on Brand boulevard from First street to Arden avenue, at the city limits. This completes the lighting system on Brand boulevard from Tropico to Casa Verdugo. The city is now taking down the old poles north of First street. The appearance of the boulevard is immensely improved. Favorable comment is being made concerning the new paving of the boulevard which was completely finished some weeks ago. The concrete base with Topeka top seems to give great satisfaction. It is believed that it will prove here as it has elsewhere more durable than the ordinary asphalt finish. It is also said that it is better for both horses and autos in wet weather.

ST. PATRICK DINNER PARTY

Shamrocks in the greatest profusion adorned the elegantly appointed table at which Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hillman presided Friday evening, when they entertained with a dinner at their home on Paloma avenue.

Seated with Mr. and Mrs. Hillman were Mr. and Mrs. Karl E. Hollingsworth and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Kimball. Music followed the dinner.

WEATHER FORECAST—Unsettled weather; showers tonight and Tuesday; northeasterly winds.

But there's one thing that might put a kibosh on this
That I very plainly can see,
It would put a big ballykumswash on my bliss.
If some feller would regulate me.
Oh, Gee!
A hot application of pure regulation
What a bizzlekumbunk it would be.

SEARCH FOR MAGNESITE

Out on the slopes of the Sierras, as in the golden days of '49, men are today prospecting every canyon and valley for a mineral which is as precious as the gold of the early time. This mineral is magnesite, which has so advanced in price as to make it a matter of very easy money when a deposit is found. Men are becoming millionaires in a night by finding this mineral. As a matter of fact there is ample opportunity for any one to make a fortune in this field, for the area of deposit has scarcely been scratched as yet.

At present there are seven companies engaged in producing magnesite. The daily output of those companies is valued at about $2000. Those who understand the business say that this is only the beginning of a vast business that will soon be producing mineral that will reach a value of $10,000.

Any one who is lucky or persevering enough to discover a magnesite ledge may find that he has a whole mountain of wealth, as the ledges sometimes run over vast areas and are worth millions of dollars. Formerly Greece was the great source of supply of magnesite, which is used by paper mills, steel companies and chemical companies. Now the Sierras are yielding enormous deposits.

In various instances magnesite has been sold as high as $45 and as low as $8 a ton, but the average price can be set down as $10, which where the cost of production is low is a very good price and has always amply remunerated those who have been fortunate enough to find deposits.

SITUATION IN MEXICO

That the situation in Mexico is delicate is to say nothing but the truth. It would be perhaps as near the truth to say that it is dangerous. The farther the American troops get into the country the more is the danger that the Mexican population will resent their presence and will attack them. The Mexicans are accustomed to fighting and a little more bloodshed will not appall them in any way.

The whole situation is one that demands not only a firm hand but also careful preparation for the support of the troops that have taken the journey into the southern republic and must maintain themselves to the end of their mission lest the United States lose prestige. Now is seen the necessity for an army of competent dimensions. Troops that enter foreign and hostile territory need not only what they carry with them, but also require that their lines of communication be kept open.

It will be very easy for marauding Mexican guerilla bands to cut the communications with the columns that Dodd and Pershing are leading in the hunt after Villa. In that case a relieving column would be necessary and more trouble would ensue.

Villa is an experienced fighter and it is not going to be easy to trap him. He knows the country he is in far better than any other Mexican and there is not in the American columns that are pursuing him a single individual with that knowledge. Villa hid in those hills for years and no one was able to hunt him out. Should he desire to hide there it will be next to impossible to find him. He will have scouts and friends in every village that lies near the hills and will be made aware of every move of the troops that are hunting him.

Meantime there is evidence that Felix Diaz, nephew of the famous old dictator of Mexico, is busy forming a "national" party that will be opposed to Carranza and will make an issue of the entry of American troops into the country.

"THE SLANDERERS OF THE CITY"

Under the above title the Baltimore Municipal Journal publishes a strong article in which it asks why it is that some people seem to have an inclination at all times to find an excuse for saying ugly things about their city government. "Nobody," continues the article, "doubts the propriety of sound criticism. Nobody doubts the propriety of caustic denunciation if the facts justify the attack. But sound or justifiable criticism is not the kind that is always the most prevalent.

"If the unpleasant things uttered by some people were the outgrowth of realities within the lines of the municipal government there would be good reason for praising those who made the exposure. But when persons deliberately make statements which they know to be false; when they plunge into other statements which they have not previously verified—they do their community a fearful injury. Every time they ruthlessly and maliciously malign their municipal government they stab the reputation of the city in which they live."

Every city has had experience of this class of individual. It is the existence of such individuals and the reprehensible nature of the tactics they employ that makes it so difficult for municipalities to get the proper class of individual as councilmen or trustees. High-minded, intelligent and sensitive people do not care to expose themselves to the mud-slinging of the slanderer. The duty of serving a municipality is an onerous one. In foreign countries it is also an honorable office and eagerly sought after by men of the highest reputation.

The Lord Mayor of London and the aldermen of that historic city occupy positions of great authority and dignity. The office of Lord Mayor brings with it inevitably the honor of knighthood and many of the aldermen are knighted also. In Scotland the royal burghs, such as Perth and Edinburgh, are presided over by an official who has the title of Lord Provost, which is equivalent to that of Lord Mayor. When the sovereign chances to visit the city the Lord Provost is knighted. One might go on a long time describing the eminent position of the mayor of Berlin, of Paris, of Vienna—all important, honorable and highly honored individuals.

Why should not the mayor of an American city and the aldermen, the chairman of trustees and the trustees, or whatever they may be styled, receive like honor and find their office honored and themselves above suspicion? There are honorable men in these offices everywhere; but the habit of the opposition in too many American cities is to belittle the man in order to get his job away from him and thus to belittle the office and finally make it and its incumbents the scorn of all honorable individuals.

Perhaps it is a personal peculiarity, but yellow always seems to me the ideal dining room color, especially if that room faces west and so is not sunny at breakfast time. This does not mean the yellow of buttercups or golden rod, but a soft, creamy yellow that might almost be called buff. Have the woodwork white, by all means, or ivory. Yellow is excellent for a dining room because it lights up well at night, when green, for instance, appears to absorb the light. Yellow-shaded lights can be used in a dining room done in yellow and will give a cheerful effect. Best of all, a yellow and white dining room allows the housewife to use any china, any flowers and any furniture she desires with pleasing results, provided that the yellow is carefully chosen, soft and yet warm in tone.—Dorothy Verrill Yates in The People's Home Journal for March.

Reckless statements about matters of municipal concern are most reprehensible. If made about private individuals statements of this nature would land their authors in the civil court on an action for slander. Such people, however, seem to feel that they are at liberty to level slanders at men in office and expect such slanders to be passed by as of no moment. Irresponsibility permits such individuals to escape; but there should be public means of dealing with them. The absence of challenge where misstatements are made leads many into the belief that the misstatements are true.

The municipal government belongs to the people. Let the people criticize it openly and fairly. Let them also defend it when it is unjustly attacked and slandered.

THE DEVIL'S RESIGNATION

The devil sat by the lake of fire. On a pile of sulphur kegs, His head was bowed upon his breast His tail between his legs. A look of shame was on his face. The sparks dripped from his eyes. He had sent his resignation To the throne up in the skies. "I'm down and out" the devil said, He said it with a sob; "There are others who out-class me, And I want to quit the job; Hell isn't in it with the land That lies along the Rhine; I'm a has been and a quitter, And therefore I resign."

"One ammunition maker With his bloody shot and shell, Knows more about damnation Than all the imps in hell! Give my job to Kaiser William, Or to the Russian Czar; Or King George or J. P. Morgan Or some such man of war." "I hate to leave the old home, The spot I love so well; But I feel that I'm not up to date In the art of running hell!" And the devil spit a squirt of steam At a brimstone bumble bee; And muttered that "he guessed he'd go, And hunt up Young John D." —Anonymous.

WHAT AMERICAN HUNTERS SPEND

"Of shotgun ammunition alone more than a billion shells are sold in the United States each year. (Retailing at about $30,000,000). There are thirty-five million clay birds or targets shot at every year in America (costing the shooters about $500,000). There are five hundred thousand shotguns and rifles sold to sportsmen in America each year (bringing easily from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000). There are forty-five hundred gun clubs in the United States. On the whole the outdoor sportsmen of America who do not confine their enjoyment altogether to proxy sports or commercialized sports—the men who at least have smelt powder—make a very respectable nucleus of military possibility. Rather let us call it efficient business possibility.

"The capitalization of American outdoor sports runs into very large figures. When we come to transportation, hotel bills, guides, equipment and so on as required by the sportsmen tourists who hunt and fish, we run into very many millions of dollars."

There can be no question that the training these men obtain in the pursuit of game develops the very qualities which make good soldiers. This training has been in the past and will be in the future a tremendous asset to the United States in the event of war. Colonel Roosevelt in the introduction to his work on "The Deer Family" at page 24 says:

"There are many sides to the charm of big game hunting; nor should it be regarded as being without its solid advantages from the standpoint of national character. Always in our modern life, the life of a highly complex industrialism, there is a tendency to softening of the fibre. This is true of our enjoyments, and it is no less true of very many of our business occupations. It is not true of such work as railroad-building, a purely modern development, nor yet of work like that of those who man the fishing fleets; but it is pre-eminently true of all occupations which cause men to lead sedentary lives in great cities. For these men it is especially necessary to provide hard and rough play. Of course, if such play is made a serious business, the result is very bad; but this does not in the least affect the fact that within proper limits the play itself is good. Vigorous athletic sports carried on in a sane spirit are healthy. The hardy out-of-door sports of the wilderness are even healthier. It is a mere truism to say that the qualities developed by the hunter are the qualities needed by the soldier; and a curious feature of the changed conditions of modern warfare is that they call to a much greater extent than during the two or three centuries immediately past, for the very qualities of individual initiative, ability to live and work in the open, and personal skill in the management of horse and weapons, which are fostered by a hunter's life. No training in the barracks or on the parade ground is as good as the training given by a hard hunting trip in which a man really does the work for himself, learns to face emergencies, to study country, to perform feats of hardihood, to face exposure and undergo severe labor. It is an excellent thing for any man to be a good horseman and a good marksman, to be able to live in the open and to feel a self-reliant readiness in any crisis. Big game hunting tends to produce or develop exactly these physical and moral traits. To say that it may be pursued in a manner or to an extent which is demoralizing is but to say what can likewise be said of all other pastimes and of almost all kinds of serious business. That it can be abused either in the way in which it is done, or the extent to which it is carried, does not alter the fact that it is in itself a sane and healthy recreation."

"If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost. That is where they belong. Now put foundations under them."

Why You

Should Do Business With The
BANK OF GLENDAL E

California's laws regulating this bank are among the strongest in the United States.

In these laws are defined just what loans a bank may make.

Regular examinations are made by the State Banking Superintendent, and as a further protection to our depositors, and to ourselves, we secured connection with the Los Angeles Clearing House and are examined by the Clearing House Examiner.

The funds are protected by a good screw-door safe in a vault fortified with electric burglar alarm, in addition to being insured against burglary and hold-up.

All officers are bonded. The Bank of Glendale makes no loans to any of its officers. Disinterestedness in those having care of your money is thus assured.

Keep in mind that we do a Commercial and Savings bank business; that we are provided with all that is desired in safety and service.

Mr. and Mrs. Kari E. Hollingsworth, Mrs. E. Keeley, Miss L. Walker, S. Petrie and R. James were a merry party who enjoyed a hike to Camp Sturtevant, leaving Saturday and returning late Sunday evening. There were many visitors at the camp, as the mountain trails and camps at this season of the year are very beautiful, in their spring verdure and vari-colored myriads of wildflowers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Farrell, 123 E. Broadway, motored to Pomona Sunday to visit their friend, Mr. Abraham Baker. Mrs. Farrell says that the orange crop is wonderful. Oranges are everywhere and they brought home an autoload, and Mrs. Farrell will be up to her ears in orange cookery for some days. On their way home they called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews, of Covina. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews were former residents of Glendale and have many friends here.

DEATH OF MISS LESSLEY

Miss Ora Ethel Lessley passed away at the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas W. Hesse, 824 Lincoln Place, at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, March 19, at the age of 29 years, 6 months and 25 days. Miss Lessley had resided in Glendale but 3 months. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at the Pulliam Undertaking parlors, with interment in Forest Lawn cemetery.

LECTURE ON "PATTERNS"

No woman can afford to miss the meeting at the High School Tuesday, March 21, at 2:30, when Mrs. Byram, Juvenile Court officer of Los Angeles, will give an address to mothers and daughters, subject "Patterns." The Federation of P. T. A. has arranged the lecture through the Juvenile Court department under Mrs. E. M. Witt. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Dr. Hunt, Mrs. H. H. Jepson, Mrs. A. A. Ward, and Mrs. H. A. McPherson. The Girls' Glee club will render various pieces under the direction of Mrs. Dora L. Gibson.

GLENDAL E FOOTHILLS

Mr. and Mrs. Colson of 1629 Ruth street moved to 1516 Burchett street Saturday.

Mrs. A. Mitchell, of 2001 Kenneth Road, is entertaining one of her former Chicago schoolmates, Miss Katherine McGrath, who is a famous pianist.

The Foothills' club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. P. Thompson, North Grand View avenue. The entertainment was appropriate to St. Patrick's day. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. C. H. Toll. The beautiful residence was charmingly decorated with cherokee roses, and a profusion of foliage and spring blossoms. In the absence of the president, Mrs. W. S. Porter, Mrs. C. H. Toll acted as chairman.

Mrs. Toll presented the club with a number of rag rugs, which she has been weaving diligently for some time. These articles were sold among the members of the club and the proceeds will be devoted to charitable work.

A letter was read from Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the Glendale Garden society, asking that the Foothills' club co-operate with the Garden society in the Free Flower show that is to be given in April. After some discussion it was agreed that the club should take part in the show and assist it in every manner possible.

The new constitution of the club was read and approved.

The feature of the day was the St. Patrick's poem contest. Mrs. Thompson had requested each member to compose a quatrain on St. Patrick's day, the best verse to obtain a prize. Many of the quatrains presented were witty, most of them were humorous; but the one which obtained the prize as the most original was that of Mrs. Alec Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell was presented with a copy of J. M. Synge's characteristically Irish tale, "The Shadow of the Glen." Mrs. Thompson had decorated her spacious room in genuine St. Patrick's style. The table decorations, too, were reminiscent of the "ould sod," and the symbolical shamrock was everywhere. After a pleasant luncheon the guests enjoyed the wonderful view from the veranda.

The birds are happy all day long,

ALASKA'S NEW GATEWAY

Prince Rupert, the new gateway to Alaska, destined to be a great port and a great city, has started out right. It has site tax, Frank G. Carpenter, the travel writer, who has traveled almost as many miles as the Arctic circle has snow crystals, says:

"Prince Rupert believes in the single tax, and the most of the revenues of the city come from a tax on land on'y. Improvements pay nothing. The Prince Rupert Hotel, for instance, cost $125,000 to build. It is on a lot 100x200 and this lot is valued at $50,000. The tax is levied on the lot only. There is nothing paid on the building.

Just across the way is a vacant lot of the same size, and it pays just as much taxes as the big hotel. The result is that people cannot afford to hold valuable real estate unless they improve it.

"BEN HUR"—SPECTACULAR DANCES

When Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan presents her remarkable spectacular dramatization of Ben Hur to the Glendale public March 30 and 31 those who witness the presentation will have the pleasure of seeing some of the most beautiful dances ever arranged for any stage. Among the 250 children who are to take part in this remarkable spectacle are many who have developed great capacity for the terpsichorean art.

Four dances among the many that grace the presentation are specially worthy of attention. This week much care and patience has been expended in rehearsal on these dances. One is the "Flower Dance," which is supposed to take place at midday. In a blaze of brilliant light the children gradually evolve through the mazes of their twinkling feet and the undulating movements of their graceful bodies the beauty of the noonday light.

Then the rippling chords of Beethoven's "Midnight Sonata" are heard; the gentle evening breeze is softly moving on the face of the waters and the moonlight sheds its subdued light over all. Into this scene of loveliness softly glide dim shapes—moving, ever moving hither and thither with the sweet confidence of created beings who know that the soft stillness and the night are theirs—nymphs, fauns, dryads—moving, gliding, flitting among the green festoons of the forest.

"Descending Night," another dance of wondrous beauty, brings to mind the wonderful gradations of the light in realms where the evening lingers, where the sun goes down in a blaze of golden glory and the afterglow remains in the west for a long time, passing into soft purples and sometimes vivid greens, until at last the kindly hand of night draws the curtain over the wondrous display, softly, meekly, gently. To portray these gradations, as is done in this dance, is a triumph of artistic skill and taste.

"At Dawn" is another clever piece of realistic interpretation of one of nature's tenderest moods. Earth is trembling with the first hints of the coming awakening. The world is still bathed in the tender daylight, dawnlight, dreamlight that enwraps it. Then comes the faint strains of the awakening. Magic music is heard, shadowy forms arise; they move, they live, they evolve into fair life—the dawn has come.

Other dance pictures are the joyous rhythmic dance that precedes the advent of the Sun God. This is adapted from the famous picture by Guido Reni, the Italian painter, whose interpretations of nature in her grandest moods have entranced the world. The Greek poses in this scene are remarkably beautiful.

LITERARY SECTION

The literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet at the home of Mrs. E. W. Kinney, 1223 W. Seventh street, on the afternoon of March 21. It will be Emerson Day. Mrs. McNutt will read a paper on "His Life at Concord" and "The Transcendentalist." Mrs. Edstrom, recently from Paris, who is here on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Anderson, will read a paper on Emerson's essays. This promises to be a program of unusual interest.

GLENDAL E CITY UNION

Quite a large attendance greeted the opening of the regular session of the Glendale W. C. T. U., at the home of Miss Olive Marsh, 211 Cedar street, Friday afternoon. The spacious rooms were artistically decorated with bridal wreaths, ferns, lilies, and a rare variety of Japanese iris. The American flag and several Japanese flags were among the decorations. The Japanese lilies and the flag of Nippon were in honor of Miss Spencer, the guest of the day, who, for 38 years, was a missionary in Japan.

lastic song service. Miss Matilda Spencer, during her long residence in Tokyo, was president of the W. C. T. U. there. She was also the head of the girls' school in Tokyo and did a great deal of effective evangelistic work. Miss Spencer gave an interesting account of Japan and its people and also of the need of temperance missionary work in that country.

Mrs. Ruby Smart also gave an interesting missionary talk. She said that the white banner of temperance floated over forty nations and that from each of those nations came an appeal for temperance missionaries.

Mrs. Edgar Leavitt conducted the devotional exercises. Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt were missionaries in Tokyo twenty years ago.

Miss Ellen Grist sang "Face to Face." Miss Grist's fine soprano voice was heard to good effect in this fine solo. A liberal offering was received in behalf of the world missionary fund. Refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned to meet two weeks hence at the home of Mrs. Keim, 1442 Second street.

A FACTOR FOR WORLD PEACE

In 1898 Italy organized a Cosmopolitan club among the foreign students in its universities, later joining forces with the universities of Europe. Ten years ago clubs of students of different races were started at Cornell and the University of Wisconsin. Now these European and American organizations have united and have met in the United States as an International Congress of Students. Local societies of these Cosmopolitan clubs have been formed in twenty-six American universities. At one club meeting thirteen different national songs were sung in their original tongue. Each member of the chorus learned the tune of twelve national airs besides his own and memorized the words of all of them, Russian, Chinese, Hawaiian, Japanese and those of western European nations. It was an impressive spectacle when these thirteen students marched out on the platform, each dressed in his native costume, the Mexican with his sombrero, the Chinese in his silk robe, the Hollander with his wooden shoes and wide trousers and the Scotchman with his kilts. "Rule Britannia," "Hawaii Pono," "Mexicanos al grito," "Wacht am Rhein" and eight other national songs succeeded each other, ending with "America."—From the People's Home Journal for March.

SPLENDID SUNDAY

There were reasonably good audiences in attendance upon worship Sunday morning and evening in the First English Lutheran church, corner Third and Isabel. In the pastor's morning sermon, "The Attractiveness of Jesus" was emphasized by showing that Christ was one worth seeing; that he attracts by "His wonderful claims and sinlessness," by "His great personal sacrifice," and by "His matchless resurrection."—The evening service was declared exceptionally fine, illustrating "The Good Shepherd." Many beautiful views were shown. Some were present who declared this the finest and most impressive of all our illustrative services. The singing and illustrating of the "Ninety and Nine" was especially worthy of note.

A class of first reader pupils were very proud when they were able to spell "B-a-double l, ball," and so forth. The meaning of the "double" was explained to them. One day the class came upon this sentence, "Up! Up! John, and see the sun rise!" One little fellow, remembering the explanation, read it as follows: "Double up, John, and see the sun rise!"—Answers.

FASHIONS FOR CHILDREN

By MARGARET MASON

NEW YORK, March 14.—They're little, but, oh my! For frocks and frills the tiny Jills mount up as enormous bills as the big gals. No longer are little sisters content with dresses made over out of big sister's or Mother's castoffs. Nowadays, with all the sophistication of a full grown follower of vogue, the wee ones insist on the latest spring lines and silhouettes in the replenishment of their wardrobes. Like the elders, the children's styles smack of period dressing: Louis Seize, Directoire, 1860, 1830 and also Louis Quinze.

Of course all their skirts are as full and wide as their mother's and but a modicum shorter. Cunning little peasant frocks with pointed bodices of laced black velvet over short sleeved, frilly blouses of white batiste and little full flowered skirts of challie or crepe are quaintly charming and also childish. Many indeed are the little models shown with separate waists and skirts, some with peplums and others with little suspender effects to match the skirt material.

Dear indeed to the hearts of little girlhood are these miniature separate skirt and blouse affairs just like a real grown up lady's. One of the suspender models comes with a skirt of striped green and white linen, a veritable little shirt waist of white batiste, its turn over collar and cuffs finished with a frilling picot edged in green. A wide, band-like belt of plain green linen embroidered in a vine of white has two wide suspender straps going one over each shoulder, the square ends of which protrude below the belt line in little tab effects, like a peplum. This model also comes in rose and white and blue and white. As for coats, they are all narrow across the shoulders and flare modishly toward the finish.

Silk Peplum or gabardine are the smartest materials, always of course including faille. Some of them show touches of smocking, insets below the high waist line of blocks and pleats or tucks and some are frogged smartly in gold or silver braid. Yet others rely on a collar of real lace, a jeweled button or two or just the lustre of the material to add chic. Hats run mostly to inverted bowl effects of leghorn and Milan braid or to quaint little bonnets.

Picot edged ribbons are used lavishly as trimming, as are button roses and the gay cherries so beloved of the grown ups just now. Little feet shod in high, white-kid-topped patent leathers and white silk stockings show dazlingly below the full short skirts just like mother's. Indeed, these little feet follow in mother's footsteps often more sartorially than fittingly.

MENACE OF THE TIN CAN

Who would have thought that the tin can is a menace to the public health? The expert malaria investigators of the U. S. Health Service have found, however, that discarded tin cans containing rain water are breeding places for the mosquito, which is the sole agent in spreading malaria. A hole in the bottom of the empty can might have resulted in the saving of a human life. Certainly it would have assisted in preventing a debilitating illness. Empty tin cans have no business about the premises anyway, but if we must so decorate our back yards, let's see to it that the can has a hole in the bottom.

LA CRESCENTA

Mrs. V. B. Clafin, the well-known real estate agent, is moving into Mrs. Eaton's bungalow, having rented her own fine residence on Prospect avenue.

The State Highway has now been completed from the corner of School street, La Canada, up to Frank Dique's ranch. The road is an excellent piece of work and is a great benefit to the district. It is expected that the road will be continued along through Littlelands.

Camp Lacour, which lies along the State highway, about a mile from the termination of that roadway on the east of Littlelands, is looking comfortable and picturesque in this fine weather. Mr. George Lacour, the proprietor, says that there are never any fogs round there even when they can see the whole of Glendale enveloped in a thick curtain. Mr. Lacour has a fine newly-built cabin for rent. His own large bungalow also contains five extra furnished bedrooms and a large sleeping porch, which he rents to those desirous of enjoying the fine mountain air. The camp has a fine well of excellent water and stands in the midst of a beautiful grove, with olive trees and shade trees of all kinds. It is served with electric light, has a fine garage and telephone service.

The men of the Presbyterian church have arranged for an "Echo Meeting" at the school house Sunday evening, the 19th, at 7:30 o'clock. The principal address will be given by Honorable A. J. Wallace, who was chairman of the great Laymen's Missionary convention recently held in Los Angeles. Delegates from the church to that convention will tell briefly their impressions of that convention. Everybody is invited to this meeting.

The services of the Presbyterian church will be held in the school house beginning Sunday, the 19th, and thereafter till further notice. The school house being centrally located and the services being for everybody, all the citizens and visitors of La Crescenta and Montrose are invited to all the services. Bible study and sermon, 10:30 a. m. Evening service, 7:30 o'clock. Theodore Hopping, minister.

Chancellor Livingston of Sunland, who is in the U. S. navy, had a leave of absence to visit his parents last week and visited some of his La Crescenta friends Sunday.

A number of Glendale young people, including Frances Peckham, Venissa and Lorraine Stockwell and Stanley Ghorman, made a merry party of horseback riders that called on Miss Marguerite Cloud Saturday.

Miss Gladys Thompson spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday with her sister at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Hughes of Los Angeles.

Miss Ethel Lewenstein spent Sunday visiting at the F. T. Scott home in Los Angeles.

Wm. Calhoun is absent on a two weeks' business trip in Arizona.

Mrs. M. M. Cloud returned Tuesday from a month's visit with relatives and friends at Topeka and other points in Kansas. Mrs. Cloud said that she found the weather quite mild, almost California weather, with the exception of one week, when it snowed and was quite cold. It was nine years since Mrs. Cloud had been back to Kansas and she found many changes. On the way home Mrs. Cloud stopped off a day at Ash Fork, Arizona, to see her husband, Dr. Cloud, who is doing special work for the Santa Fe.

The young people of La Crescenta organized a new social club Monday evening, which has not yet been christened. The club has fifteen charter members. Miss Molly Brown was elected president and Miss Dorothy Cloud secretary and treasurer.

Everything about the Fairmount hotel looks beautiful at this time. The scent of the orange trees fills the air and the hum of the bees in search of honey makes the whole atmosphere musical. The air is balmy and clear and evidently has attracted a number of people who find the conditions here favorable for the health.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cooper of Los Angeles and their son and infant daughter and their maid, arrived Tuesday and took up their residence in one of the cabins. Mr. Cooper goes back to business but the family stays, delighted with the place.

Other visitors at the Fairmount are: Mrs. E. H. White of Los Angeles, Mrs. Leo Youngworth of Los Angeles, Mrs. William Bosbyshell of Los Angeles, Mrs. B. Nelson Coffman and daughter of Los Angeles, Mr. C. J. Rhode of Glendale, who has a cabin; Mr. Ed. A. Lord of Rosemont, Pa.; Miss Elizabeth Murray of Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Emily Brown of Pasadena, and Mrs. Louise S. Janvier of Pasadena.

Mrs. J. S. Irwin and Mrs. Henry Johnston went up Hendricks' canyon the other day for the purpose of enjoying the fine weather and viewing the country. Hendricks' canyon must contain a peculiarly poisonous species of poison oak, as the two ladies came home with their faces dreadfully swollen and their arms in similar condition. The poisoning was so virulent that the swelling closed up the ladies' eyes and they are both in a very painful condition.

LITTLELANDS

Mr. Wood Hagan and wife, of Los Angeles, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. House on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Blumfield were pleasantly surprised on Wednesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Tench and son George came up from Los Angeles, bringing with them ice cream and cake with which to celebrate the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Blumfield and Mrs. Tench, which both occurred that day. Mrs. Tench is the sister of Mr. Blumfield.

A number of young people enjoyed a picnic lunch and hike to the Tejuanga river and Anderson's canyon on Sunday. Among those who went were Irene and Will Lancaster, Gertrude and Edna May Van Batum, Eustace and Robert Rowley, Ethel Martin, Paul Johnson and Clark Lippincott.

Mrs. Lyman Maxwell and Mrs. Chase, formerly of Littlelands, came up from Los Angeles Sunday and visited friends at Sunland and Littlelands.

Donald Cowlin, who joined the U. S. navy last fall, was in the valley greeting friends last week. His ship, the Farragut, was stationed at San Pedro for a while and Don obtained ten days' leave of absence to visit his parents at Pasadena, and friends.

Mr. Harmer and family moved to the John Miller house on First street last week.

Lita Adams celebrated her eleven birthday last Saturday by inviting several friends to join her in a picnic and luncheon under the fine shade trees joining the olive grove. A large birthday cake was provided and a bounteous luncheon was served. Those present were Dorothy Rowley, Gertrude Shroeder, Dorothy Emmons, Gladys Maygrove, Muriel Osborn and the hostess, Lita Adams.

Rev. and Mrs. Wester spent a few days in Pasadena this week.

Mr. Freeman, brother of Hanford Freeman, has rented the Wm. Blumfield cottage and has moved in with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Martin, of First street, are rejoicing over the birth of a ten-pound boy, which came Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Eagler entertained at dinner on Sunday their son, Mr. Eagler, and family of Palms, and Mr. and Mrs. Harmer and children.

The band benefit given by the residents of Sunland last Friday evening was attended by a large number of people from the valley and an auto load from Burbank. A dinner was served from six o'clock till all were served. During the evening the band, under the direction of Mr. Maygrove, played numerous selections which were much appreciated by the audience. The band is making rapid improvement, and is fortunate to have such an able instructor as Mr. Maygrove. About forty-five dollars was taken in from the supper and sale of ice cream.

Mr and Mrs. Rice of Tropic are in the valley occupying one of the tent bungalows at J. E. Grahams.

Supervisor Woodley purchased, last week, the Girldstone ranch, consisting of two hundred acres. The property was owned by Mrs. Martin and Harry Girldstone, and lies opposite Sunland, on the north side of the Tejuanga river.

Town Meeting

Mr. Ashby reported Tuesday evening that so far he has been unable to find three men who can give the time and attention necessary to the serving on the executive board of the colony. He promised, however, to make further effort to secure the necessary number. There was some talk of having a deputy sheriff appointed to be ready to serve the valley if occasion calls for such necessity. Mr. Clark spoke on the desirability of beautifying the school grounds by the planting of trees and shrubs. Mr. Maxwell advocated the plan of appointing committees of school children to take charge of the care of certain trees and as they get through school, the work to fall to their successors. It was announced that the election of a school trustee takes place the 7th of April, at which time Mr. Wells' term expires.

Mr. Ashby had agreed to arrange a program for Massachusetts night and as his part he gave a very interesting and comprehensive sketch of the state; its area, population, industries, its noted people, its historical setting in the Union, its resources—all very instructive and showing much careful thought and preparation. One very interesting point dwelt upon was the comparative size of Massachusetts with that of California, which is 21 times as large and if as densely populated California would have 70,000,000 inhabitants. Miss Bertha Fehr next rendered a beautiful piano solo, which was heartily enjoyed and to which she graciously responded. Mr. C. H. Clark then gave a selection from Longfellow, "The Building of the Ship." Fred Petrola was asked to give a selection on the mouth harp. He also responded to an encore. Mrs. Dean gave an original poem, "Massachusetts, the Cradle of Liberty," which had been given by her as a response to a toast on some past occasion. Afterwards by request of Mr. Ashby she recited "Paul Revere's Ride."

The program was one of instruction and entertainment as well. The next program will be given by the Michigan people.

After being away for more than a year the Whitman family are back once more at their place on Pine street. Their niece, Miss Fern Whitman, is with them.

Mrs. J. E. Carr and her son, Charles Ashby, are visiting friends at Long Beach and Pasadena.

BURBANK

The Burbank High School baseball team will meet the Compton High School club at Compton on Saturday, March 18.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Hannaman recently entertained Mrs. R. G. Jones and children of Portland, Oregon.

Tonight, Friday evening, March 17, the Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church give an ice cream social and program at Horne Hall.

Burbank Civic Proceedings

The regular weekly session of the trustees of the city of Burbank was held at the city hall at 2:15 Tuesday afternoon, Trustees Blanchard, Forbes, Craig, Kline and Hogle all being present. The minutes of last meeting were read by city clerk Emily Peyton, approved and ordered filed.

The city engineer presented his plans in regard to the placing of the new fire hydrants. This matter was discussed thoroughly and his plans were finally approved by the board. The city has purchased 70 new hydrants, some of which replace hydrants already in.

A committee from Main and Olive avenues, of which Mr. Clarke was chief spokesman, addressed the board in regard to the extension of water mains to their ranches. Their request was refused on the grounds that the business at the present time would not warrant such an extension.

The matter of a high reservoir also came before the board, and the city engineer was instructed to present plans, diagrams, etc., for approval at an early date.
